Questions

1. How do these results confirm what you already thought about the different factors of your personality, if at all?
2. What do these results tell you about yourself that you were not that aware of, if anything?
3. How could you use these insights in your everyday life? Consider personal/family relationships, work/career, hobbies, or whatever else you think applies.